PHIRE An evening with Jayathilake

“ Singhiloke Bandara, the iconic activist-artist, who uses song as a potent tool of political & social resistance is visiting Melbourne. Four decades ago, Jayathilake Bandara took up the challenge of using his singing voice to create awareness about many burning social and political issues that affect the silent majority.

A die-hard activist, Jayathilake Bandara remained unassailed in the face of the new wave of popular culture that began to dominate the music and entertainment industry. Instead, he uses the powerful medium of the song to radically question society and politics. Debt-laden farmers taking their own lives, child abuse, rights of fishermen, unlawful detention, abducted and missing persons, the morality of war, and the rampant corruption among politicians and government officials became the central themes of his songs.

Singing in Sinhala and Tamil languages, Jayathilake Bandara has taken his activism to the length and breadth of Sri Lanka. As a result, he has become the enemy of the State and the fellow Date: Sat 3 Sept 2016
