My name is Khan at the Oscars

The Reminder List of Productions Eligible for the 83rd Academy Awards is out and we receive a pleasant surprise as we see none other than the heart warming film, My name is Khan while scanning this list. My name is Khan has also been nominated for every other Indian cinema award including Film fare, Big star entertainment awards, Zee cine awards, Star screen awards and many others. The films main stars, Sharukh Khan and Kajol have also been nominated in their respective categories.

It's the time for awards early in the year. We will just wait and see who bags it and who misses out.

Amitabh Bachchan and Cameron Diaz to share dais at IIFA 2011

Next year, Amitabh Bachchan's much-delayed international collaboration will finally happen, though on an unusual platform.

In June 2011, the Big B will be bonding with several big international names including Cameron Diaz who will be part of an American-Hollywood entourage to be invited to participate at the international Bollywood event.

Says a source, "Because this time the IIFA is being held in Toronto many big names from the American movie industry are being invited to attend and Cameron Diaz has already said yes. The IIFA organizers Wizcraft have already spoken to Cameron. Events are being planned to accommodate Mr. Bachchan and Cameron on the same platform for several discussions on the coming together of Bollywood and Hollywood."

No one killed Jessica

Rani Mukherjee is back! No one killed Jessica, starring Rani and Vidya Balan is based on a true story.

This political thriller set in Delhi is said to be based on the Jessica Lal murder case. The director went on to clarify that the title and the script are based on the headline which was carried out by the times of India in 2006 when the accused of the Jessica Lal murder case was acquitted by the courts leading to protests nationwide. The case was reopened and accused were sentenced.

The movie is releasing on the 7th of January - coming to Hoyts cinemas In Australia.

Dhobi Ghat - Amirs new production

After starring in the award winning 3-idiots, Amir is back with his newest film Dhobi ghat. In the crowded city of Mumbai four individuals are separated by class and language. The story follows their journey as they drift closer together and away from each of their comfort zones.

The movie stars four characters in lead role. Aamir Khan(Arun) plays role of a reclusive modern art painter. Monica Dogra (Shai) as Indian American banker who is on visit to Mumbai. Prateek Babbar (Munna) as washerboy and Kriti Malhotra (Yasmin). We can meet these people on the 21st of January at Hoyts!
